CELEBRATING 100 YEARS OF
AMERICA'S BEST IDEA:
THE NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

GUEST SPEAKER

Join us as the Director of the National Park Service, Jon Jarvis, regales us with stories about the only federal agency with a constitutional mandate to “have fun” . . .

JONATHAN JARVIS

As the 18th Director of the National Park Service (appointed in 2009), Jonathan Jarvis makes his home in Washington, D.C., but his roots are in the Valley of Virginia. A native of Rockbridge County, he graduated from Natural Bridge High School and the College of William and Mary. Jarvis began as a seasonal Park Service interpreter during the Bicentennial in 1976. Forty years later he is guiding his beloved agency into its Centennial celebration with a deep knowledge derived from spending a lifetime among America’s greatest treasures. A book about the history of the National Park Service with a foreword by Jarvis will be available for sale and autographing.
